COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course provides an overview of the U.S. Health Care System, primarily as it has developed during the past century. Students are expected to achieve a basic understanding of the system in anticipation of future careers and employment in the health care industry.

REQUIRED TEXT: Shi, L., Singh, D.A., 2017, Essentials of the U.S. Health Care System (Fourth Edition), Sudbury, MA: Jones and Bartlett Publishers Inc.

REQUIRED TECHNOLOGY: You will need either a laptop or smartphone device with the Canvas App for the purposes of class attendance records and for taking online quizzes. Also, you will be required to register for a CATME student account, a system for teamwork support tools (<http://info.catme.org/>).

ADDITIONAL RESOURCES: Additional readings and web-based materials will be assigned. Information will be posted to the course website.

Furthermore, each new copy of Essentials of the U.S. Health Care System, Fourth Edition, comes packaged with an access code to a Companion Student Website that offers a wealth of interactive tools to engage you in learning about the basic structures, operations, and delivery systems of U.S. health care. If your textbook does not contain an access code card, you can purchase online access separately (www.jblearning.com or 1-800-832-0034). Student resources on this website include the following:

- Interactive Flashcards guide you through the key definitions vital to your understanding of important topics.
- Crossword Puzzles provide a fun and interactive overview of terms from each chapter. Students, fill in the crossword puzzle based on material you've studied in each chapter.

- Interactive Glossary allows you to instantly view definitions of key terms from the book. You can search by keyword, browse alphabetically, or browse by chapter.
- Matching Exercises help you practice what you have learned in online activities.
- Web Links showcase external sites that provide additional information about topics.

DISCLAIMER: This syllabus represents my current plans and objectives. As we go through the semester, those plans may need to change to enhance the class learning opportunity. Such changes, communicated clearly, are not unusual and should be expected.

COURSE OBJECTIVES: By the end of this course, students will be able to:

1. Describe the organization of health care in the U.S., including its historical context.
2. Characterize the determinants of health as they contribute to the demand for health care and relate their impact on the health care delivery system.
3. Characterize the role of the government in public health and health care delivery.
4. Examine the dynamics of health care delivery, financing, and reimbursement in the U.S.
5. Describe the role of health professionals in the U.S. health care system, including the education and credential requirements for each specialty.
6. Summarize current trends in health care reform, including the potential impact of various specific elements of Public Law 111-148, The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act.
7. Formulate responses to critical issues in public health and health care delivery that address the shifting nature of health care, the dynamic relationship between all components, and the uncertainty of the changing health care environment.
 - a. Synthesize valid and reliable sources from the literature
 - b. Critique relevant sources from the literature so that potential bias is identified and an assessment of the quality of content is included.

COURSE COMMUNICATIONS: Communications throughout the semester will mainly be conducted through the course management website (Canvas). Course communications may also occur through the ufl.edu email system.

COMMUNICATION GUIDELINES: The preferred method of contact is through UF email. Please contact your TA first. If further assistance is needed, contact the Course Instructor.

INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS: The course is organized in a lecture format. The lectures will be linked to assigned chapters in the text and peer-reviewed literature, but will also include material not found in the readings. There will also be several guest lectures throughout the semester. These will be provided by local health care leaders and public health researchers, regarded as experts in their fields of practice and research. These will enrich your knowledge base of the evolving structure of the U.S. public health and health care delivery systems.

Students are expected to complete all reading assignments, attend all lectures, and be prepared to participate in all class sessions. You are also expected to be actively engaged during Q&A sessions with our guest speakers. Your participation fosters a rich course experience for you and your peers in order to facilitate an overall mastery of the course objectives.

COURSE POLICIES:

ATTENDANCE AND CLASS PARTICIPATION POLICY: Students are also expected to arrive on time and stay until class is dismissed. Attendance and class participation will be monitored during each class session, and this will be reflected in each student's final grade. Additionally, in-preparation for our guest speaker lectures, students will be required to post an original, thought provoking, open-ended discussion question to Canvas in advance of the scheduled lecture (see Course Schedule for due dates/times). Students will also be expected to bring their discussion questions to the scheduled guest lecture to actively participate in Q&A sessions.

The UF Attendance Policy will be in effect for excused absences. For information regarding the UF Attendance Policy see the Registrar website for additional details: http://www.registrar.ufl.edu/catalogarchive/01-02-catalog/academic_regulations/academic_regulations_013_.htm. For an absence to be considered excused based on these reasons, the TA or Course Instructor must be given notification prior to the start time of class via email or Canvas message. The time stamp of the email will be used to determine if notification was prior to the start of the class.

Students will be allowed one (1) unexcused absence from class without affecting their attendance/participation grade. Students who do not attend class without an approved excused absence will not receive any attendance/participation credit for that day. Two late arrivals to class will be considered the equivalent of one class absence.

QUIZ/EXAM POLICY: There will be mid-term and final examinations. Please see course outline for exam dates. The final exam is NOT comprehensive. There will also be periodic in-class quizzes administered online using Canvas. As such, you will need either a laptop or smartphone device with the Canvas App for the purposes of taking online quizzes. These quizzes are meant to help students monitor their ongoing understanding and comprehension of the assigned course materials. The lowest quiz grade will be dropped from each student's final grade assessment.

SMALL-GROUP ACTIVITIES ASSIGNMENTS POLICY: In order to extend to our patients the best care environments, as well as coordination of services, health care is truly a "team sport". As such, you will be challenged to develop your teamwork skills during this course. You will be assigned into groups of 4 – 5 persons. Small-group activities will be assigned for a team introductions video, a group project, and a group presentation.

Small-group project guidelines will be provided later in the course (by mid-term). Please have one member of your group submit your project materials via both electronic form (in Canvas) as well as hardcopies (my mailbox, HPNP 3103, copy room) by 5:00PM on Thursday, November 9th. Additionally, each member of the group will anonymously submit a standardized evaluation of their peers' contributions to the group project; as such, each member will receive their own individual grade for the project by means of their peer group members' ratings. Peer evaluations will be submitted using the CATME system for teamwork support tools (<http://info.catme.org/>) by 11:59PM on Thursday, November 9th. Of note, students who emerge as reliable leaders for their fellow small-group members in CATME peer evaluations will be eligible for a maximum of 4 extra credit points on their individual grade for the small-group project assignment. An additional extra credit opportunity for the small-group project assignment (4 points on an individual's grade) will be available for attending a Mock Trial simulation event (see course schedule for details).

Small-group presentation guidelines will be provided later in the course (by mid-November). Each group will prepare a presentation themed "3 Minutes with the President / Governor / Other Public Official”: Suppose that you were granted three minutes of the President's time, as a representative of the medical community, what would you say? The required format for these group presentations is to use Digital Storytelling (see tutorial posted in Canvas). Please have one member of your group submit your presentation file in Canvas by 11:59PM on Tuesday, November 21st. Small-group presentation videos will be shown in class on Nov. 27th and 29th.

ASSIGNED SEATING POLICY: Students will be required to sit with their fellow small-group members.

MAKE-UP POLICY: Students are allowed to make up work ONLY as the result of illness or other unanticipated circumstances warranting a medical excuse and resulting in the student missing a deadline, consistent with College policy. Late assignments not resulting from one of these circumstances and not pre-arranged and approved by the student’s TA or Course Instructor will not be accepted and will not receive credit for the assignment. This policy also applies for quizzes and exams.

LAPTOPS / TABLET DEVICES: Laptops and tablet devices may be used in class only for on-line quizzes, taking notes, viewing slides, or accessing websites that are associated with ongoing class activities. Students are not allowed to use laptops or tablets in class for any other reason. Further, the use of laptops and tablets during guest speaker presentations is strictly prohibited. Students violating this policy will receive one warning; a second offense will result in a 5% deduction at the end of the semester from the total points earned by the student for the course grade.

CELL PHONES: Cell phones are not allowed to be out during class time unless requested by the instructor (e.g., for online Canvas quiz taking). Students violating this policy will receive one warning; a second offense will result in a 5% deduction at the end of the semester from the total points earned by the student for the course grade.

UF POLICIES:

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACCOMMODATING STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES: Students requesting accommodation for disabilities must first register with the Dean of Students Office (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodation. You must submit this documentation prior to submitting assignments or taking the quizzes or exams. Accommodations are not retroactive, therefore, students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

UNIVERSITY POLICY ON ACADEMIC MISCONDUCT: Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Cheating or plagiarism in any form is unacceptable and inexcusable behavior. Students are expected to understand and act in accordance with UF Student Honor Code (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/students.php>).

We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.
