EXPERIENCE

President, University of Florida Healthcare Education Insurance Company

Administrator, University of Florida, Florida State University, University of Central Florida, Florida Atlantic University and Florida International University Self-Insurance Programs, 2012-Current

- Plans, directs and administers all aspects of the Florida Medical Malpractice Self-Insurance Programs (SIPs) for five of the state's six Self-Insurance Programs. Duties include managing the accounting and fiscal functions of the SIPs and captives; evaluating and recommending funding levels necessary to meet SIP's annual and long-term obligations and to maintain adequate surplus to ensure the continued solvency of the program; coordinating extensively with internal and external auditors to facilitate the completion of all annual and interim audits.
- Responsible for planning, directing and developing cost-effective insurance and reinsurance programs for the State of Florida Academic Medical Malpractice liabilities, including analysis of actuarial studies, the insurance markets, judiciary and litigation trends, and other corollary factors affecting the liability exposure of protected entities/insureds to determine the feasibility of risk retention versus reinsurance; underwriting of retained risk; negotiation and purchase of reinsurance policies.
- Responsible for the planning, directing and development of loss prevention programs for the State of Florida Self-Insurance Programs. This includes identification, assessment, management and/or elimination of adverse professional and environmental conditions affecting entities protected by SIP. Further responsibilities include establishing goals and objectives, developing policies and procedures, and providing leadership in furtherance the loss prevention programs.
- Plans, directs and develops legislative review programs and recommends legislative initiatives affecting SIP insureds, to include identification and assessment of broad-scope risks, as well as review, analysis and recommendation of legislative initiatives that impact protected risks.
- Responsible for establishing claims operations management and litigation management programs for SIPs. This includes investigation, risk/loss analysis, and the legal analysis, strategy planning and claim/litigation management for asserted claims; all for the purpose of timely appropriate claim resolution where liability exists and appropriate defense where questionable liability.

Senior Associate Director Patient Safety and Business Operations, University of Florida Health Science Center Self-Insurance Program, 2011-2012.

- In collaboration with program participants, responsible for ensuring compliance with the Florida Board of Governors Regulations for the patient safety/loss prevention/education and Business Operations for the six colleges comprising the J. Hillis Miller University of Florida Health Science Center, UF Health Shands Hospitals and Clinics in Gainesville and Jacksonville, as well as for Florida State University, University of Central Florida, Florida Atlantic University, and Florida International University medical schools and affiliated teaching hospitals.
- Responsible for developing an interdisciplinary and studied approach to loss prevention by collaborating with program participants, quality and administrative leaders to use external revenue to fund patient safety grant projects designed to reduce claim exposure and improve patient care.
- Responsible for monitoring, identifying and developing legislative initiatives that impact participants through close collaboration with the Florida Hospital Association, Florida Medical Association and other individual groups with interests similar to SIP protected entities. Recent legislative initiatives include consideration of expanding the pre-suit mediation program throughout the state of Florida and to other states as well as modifying Florida's disclosure laws to more closely mirror the disclosure laws used in the other states.
- Responsible for planning and oversight of the financial and administrative programs including the successful annual audits by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP as well as audits performed by the state of Vermont for the Florida Board of Governors owned captive insurance company, UF Healthcare Education Insurance Company (HEIC).

Associate Director of Patient Safety Research and Education, University of Florida Health Science Center Self-Insurance Program, 2009-2011

- Responsible for the risk management/loss prevention requirements mandated by Florida Board of Governors Regulation 10.001 regulating UF, FSU, UCF, and FIU medical schools and affiliated teaching Hospitals.
- Responsible for collaborating with the Harvard Medical School to develop an academic medical center patient safety organization that achieved listing by the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ) in December 2010. Duties include patient safety research, education and performance improvement initiatives developed in concert with other academic health care centers through creation of joint Academic Medical Center Patient Safety Organization (AMC PSO).
- Responsible for the research and grant application/award allowing for the creation of a patient safety video "Preventing Pressure Ulcers," shown to all inpatients upon admission to educate patients on how they can participate in their care and reduce the risk of pressure ulcers.
- Developed and taught course titled "Medical Malpractice" to approximately 70 second and third year law students covering a variety of current topics such as healthcare professional liability, healthcare institutional liability, defenses to a lawsuit; provided an experiential oral argument learning activity to culminate the course that allowed students to apply the course lessons to case facts, pleadings, depositions, and hospital policies to advocate on behalf of either a patient/plaintiff or hospital.
- Developed and instructed an interdisciplinary course involving law, medicine, and health administration graduate students titled: The Legal Aspects of the Professional-Patient Relationship. The course addresses relevant professional patient issues such as the disclosure of adverse incidents, the legal aspects of informed consent, and impermissible disclosure of patient information and the role of State and Federal government in patient safety.
- Recipient of a University of Florida Employee of the Year for the Vice President of Health Affairs Division of the University of Florida J. Hillis Miller Health Science Center.

Coordinator Insurance and Risk, University of Florida Health Science Center Self-Insurance Program, 2002-2009

- Responsible for the General and Professional liability insurance, ongoing continuous quality improvement, and litigation defense and management of medical malpractice claims for the University of Florida Board of Trustees, its physicians and other healthcare employees, as well as the multiple facilities comprising the UF Health System.
- Successfully investigated, evaluated and managed physician and hospital litigation including determining legal causation, damages, and ultimately the strategic planning for denial, defense and/or settlement of multi-million dollar claims involving a multitude of state and federal statutes governing health care facilities.
- Advised and assisted teaching hospitals, physicians and other applicable professionals regarding the credentialing process and successfully defended negligent credentialing claims brought against hospitals.
- Implemented risk management/loss management prevention quality improvement initiatives as well as advising various hospital and physician governing committees re: the potential exposure of past and present litigation.
- Created an innovative ongoing quality improvement mock trial simulation based upon recurrent issues from actual healthcare lawsuits for physicians and hospital employees to understand the legal process and ultimately empower the healthcare professionals to continually improve the processes behind the provision of patient care without having to endure the stress of an actual lawsuit. The mock trial simulation was selected as a featured session for the 2007 national meeting of the Association of University Programs in Health Administration titled "Using New and Effective Teaching Methodologies for Educating Healthcare Managers" and was accepted for publication in a peer review journal for the Winter, 2007.
- Identified, analyzed, and interpreted federal, state and local statutes, administrative rules and case law essential to the insurance industry and the medical malpractice defense of the University of Florida Health Science Center.
- Oversaw, analyzed, and approved billing statements of outside attorneys and the resolution of billing disputes.
- Developed and instituted a quality improvement initiative impacting and in collaboration with a administrators and medical staff members designed to improve patient safety and identify system improvement opportunities by implementing one of the first healthcare mandatory pre-suit mediation programs in Florida and the United States.
